

Atlanta’s Cultural Attractions Host “Field Trip Fridays” and More – Online

ATLANTA (April 2, 2020) – Although the physical doors to Atlanta’s iconic cultural destinations are closed, curiosity continues to thrive online. For that reason, the city’s top attractions, including The Breman Museum, are joining together to provide virtual experiences to the community — including educators teaching remotely — for free.

The initiative includes ongoing social media and website posts of unique content from 11 organizations, culminating each week with a special “Field Trip Friday” event. The first event begins at 10 a.m. on Friday, April 3. A variety of activities and experiences allows audiences to take a virtual field trip or enjoy a virtual spring break around the city from home. Because many plans were canceled or rescheduled because of COVID-19, this programming still allows all communities to participate in meaningful and fun digital experiences together.

Cyber audiences can discover behind-the-scenes animal encounters, tours, hands-on activities, experiments, story times, spring blooms and more. Members, educators and other visitors can find links to this special content at ATLMuseumsatHome.org, as well as by searching #ATLMuseumsatHome on social media, or by visiting partner websites.

This curated programming provides educational and entertaining experiences to bring the community together at a time when people need it most. Participating Atlanta attractions:

This curated programming provides educational and entertaining experiences to bring the community together at a time when people need it most. Participating Atlanta attractions are:

Atlanta Botanical Garden
Atlanta History Center
Breman Museum
Children's Museum of Atlanta
College Football Hall of Fame
Fernbank Museum, 3D Theater and Forest
Georgia Aquarium
High Museum of Art
Michael C. Carlos Museum of Emory University
National Center for Civil and Human Rights
Zoo Atlanta

###

MEDIA CONTACT

David Schendowich, 678.571.4605

dschendowich@thebreman.org

Contact David for graphics assets from participating attractions.

The mission of The Breman Museum is to connect all people to Jewish arts, culture and history. Visit the Midtown location at 1440 Spring Street. For more information visit TheBreman.org or call 678.222.3700.